

Literacy Center of the Midlands

Legacy Society

Your gift can be a powerful and lasting legacy for the community. Bequests by wills, irrevocable trusts and revocable trusts are an important way in which the Literacy Center builds our capacity and plans for the future.

Bequests can be for a specific amount, a percentage of your estate or a stated percentage of the residual amount of your estate. Considerable estate taxes may be avoided by naming the Literacy Center in your will. For example, an IRA, 401(k) and other qualified retirement plan may be subject to estate and income taxes that can amount to a significant portion of their value. Your investments can often remain intact for your loved ones through careful estate planning that includes charitable giving.

The Literacy Center urges you to seek the advice of your attorney, accountant, banker, broker or other financial advisor.

To ensure we and your family honor your wishes, can fulfill your intent, and your legacy we would like to be notified of your intent.
